

This Is The Hiking And Camping Section.

INSERT A -

"Jardine.html"- This hiking trail is also popular with bicycle enthusiasts. Describes a trail and shows a 3200 year old juniper tree in lush green Logan Canyon, in northernmost Utah. Dorothy - You're not in Kansas anymore !

INSERT B -

Dinosaur National Monument, Utah- "The Jones Hole Trail". Be prepared- summers are very hot, winters quite frigid. This is a long hike with a lot of solitude - and beauty! (page name - "notwaikiki.html").

INSERTS C and D -

"Blackcanyon.html" and "Blkcanyon2.html" - Trails vary considerably in how strenuous they are. These two pages have images of a very beautiful national park - "Black Canyon of The Gunnison National Park". I express my thoughts about the rim roads, two of the four trails I hiked, and three campsites. Image locations listed on page 5.

INSERT E -

These strange rocks, near Hanksville, Utah, often look haunting and lifelike. (thegoblins.html)

INSERT E2 -

These are High Country Hiking Trails near Salt Lake City, Utah that lead to beautiful alpine lakes. (page name -" piggy.html")

INSERT F -

"rockyplaces.html"- This is about a National Reserve in Idaho frequented by rock climbers. It is hot in summer and very chilly in winter. This page also mentions a desert park in Colorado, and shows an image of a bizarre rock along right side of page.

INSERT G -

"pricecanyon.html" - These pictures are much better than the original ones. I wanted to show the trail and describe the hike. The scenery is gorgeous! The campsite has, fortunately, not been spoiled yet by modern conveniences. It is primitive.

INSERT H -

"dinosaur.html" - These images, taken near a primitive campsite, are of a nice trail in one of the quieter areas of "Dinosaur National Monument". For more on Dinosaur- access page 3 or 5 from "index.html"(page 1). NOTE: At top of page 3 (another section of website) is an image taken at the end of a short trail that started at the northernmost terminus of a scenic drive that headed towards the Harpers Corner area of the park.

INSERT I -

That's this page. "Grand Teton National Park", Wyoming, is a busy park, but the "Valley Trail" (top of list page), is quiet, colorful, and wooded. A moderately difficult trail with some open vistas, this spot was about 2½ miles from the trailhead.

Want more trails? See photo listings near top of page 5 for listings or go to the "Stella" (stella.html) section. For Florida trails go to the Artsy 2 section (artsy2.html). This article and articles on each page listed in this section written by Robert Pear - Freelance Photographer.

Below represents the links along bottom of html version of this page

Websites Real index

(Actual internet "port of entry" for website)

Just An Old Fashioned List Page

Complete website List Page (desktops or mobile devices).

Navigating The Website

A "Straight Ahead" Complete Website List Page

(Works with desktops or mobile devices).